Below is what the results look like. To see the article, click the title. If you want to see PDF, click that icon (where available). If there is no fulltext icon but only an arrow (), use the SFX button to see if you can get to fulltext in another database, or in print in the library.

If there are no local sources, you can use Iliad, our interlibrary loan service to get the article from other libraries at no extra charge to you. Iliad shows up as a link on SFX or you can get to it directly from <http://www.library.cmu.edu/Services/ILL/>.

HINT: when you look at an article, use the subject headings to suggest words for your next search. Each ~~database~~ has its own way of pointing out synonyms to narrow or broaden your searches.

NOTE: You can check the boxes to the left of the article, then display your “marked” articles, and print or email them as a group. Just make sure you do this before you start a new search topic, or you will “lose” your marks.
